THE MURDER TRIAL.

COMMONWEALTH
vs.
EDWARD CURLEY.

Indicted for the killing of John Gunning at Centralia on July 26th, 1876.

The first witness called was J. A. McNair who was sworn, and testified as follows:

Examined by Mr. Hughes—About two o'clock on the 26th of July, 1876, I was on the porch of liquor store with John Peiffer; looked towards the street and saw Gunning coming down, he came into the store alone; he had a pail with leaves and huckleberries in it, leaves at bottom and berries on top; in about 15 or 20 minutes he started up the street; went to Mrs Cain's, didn't stop more than a minute or so; he crossed over the street and said: "I am going in here." He went straight in and walked to the rear end of the store. Curley kept kind of a store and drinking house. Saw his wife talk with him a little and she went back out of sight, she came back soon with a pitcher; she poured something into a glass and Gunning raised the glass as though he was drinking; shortly after that she came out from behind the bar and crossed to the north side of the room; Gunning followed after her and they stood and talked a little while, I looked down the street and saw Curley in front of Fortner's tin store. He walked straight up the street and went into his place, and down to where Gunning and his wife were talking; he swore and grabbed the pail from her and hit Gunning over the head; then he crowded Gunning towards the front door, kicked at him; at the door he struck at Gunning with a stick, and I thought he hit him, then he kicked the pail out and it rolled into the street. His wife caught hold of her husband and held him back; Gunning squared him self on the walk and put up his fists as though he would fight.

He said, "Come out of that Curley. D—n your soul I can whip you." Curley came to door and Mrs. Curley caught hold of Curley and tried to hold him. He got loose from her and jumped off the walk toward Gunning, picked up a stone, threw it, it hit on the walk in front of Mrs. Cain's. He threw another stone and came near hitting Mrs. Gunning. Then Maggie Gunning, daughter of John Gunning threw a stone and hit Curley in the forehead. He staggered and bled bad. He soon started to pick up another stone but Mrs. Curley took him in the house. Mrs. Gunning and Maggie took Gunning home. About 10 or 15 minutes after that Curley came out holding a cloth to his head and went down the street to a drug store. That was the last I saw of Curley until I saw him here in court. After Curley came in I saw Gunning put his hand up to defend himself from Curley. Did not see him strike at Curley. He was backing towards the outer door. Curley kept striking at him to put him out of the house. Gunning was just going through the front door the last time Curley struck him. When Gunning came into my store after being put out by Curley I felt the back of his head; there was a lump there about the size of an egg. Gunning asked me to feel the lump. From the time that Curley put Gunning out until Gunning came into my store it was about an hour or an hour and a half. After that I saw a crowd of men carrying a man up the street. They carried him into Gunning's. It was about an hour from the time I saw Maggie Gunning hit Curley with stone until I saw the man carried to Gunning's. Just after I saw the crowd bring the man up the street, I saw a man at the side door of Curley's house. He went back around the corner of the house. I resided in Centralia after that until May, 1877. Curley's house was on the opposite side of the street from my store, about 100 feet distant. Gunning was somewhat intoxicated when he came into my store after Curley had put him out. I don't think Curley was drunk when I saw him. When he asked me to treat him he was not excited. He afterwards became excited in talking about Gunning. Gunning was about 60 years old. The stick Curley had when he said he would smash Gunning's head was about 1 inch in diameter and about 3 feet long.

Cross-examined by Mr. Buckalew—Curley carried a cane that day. Sometimes he carried a cane and sometimes he didn't. It was a straight cane as near as I can remember. Didn't examine it particularly. My business since 1877 is farm work and teaming. Live now in Illinois. In 1877 I was agent for A. W. Creamer in a liquor store at Centralia, retail store. I was alone in the store and on the stoop John Peiffer and Anthony Keller were with me. My store was exactly opposite Curley's house. When Curley was in my store afterwards, John Peiffer and Anthony Keller were present. I have not seen John Peiffer here. I am told he lives in Kansas. He was at the store all the afternoon. Have not seen Anthony Keller here. Understand he lives in Centralia. It was about 15 or 20 minutes after when Gunning went into Curley's house during the quarrel. Didn't see them at the door of Curley's house, nor on the pavement. Mag lived with her father at the time, unmarried. From Curley's to the drug store it was 400 or 500 feet. I saw Curley go into the drug store. It was about three-quarters of an hour after that that I saw a man carried into Gunning's. I was subpœnaed last Saturday morning in Cherry Valley, Illinois.

Adjourned until 2 p. m.

George McIlhenny sworn—I live in Centralia. Lived there in July 1876. I seen a fuss, and somebody said it was Margaret Gunning and Curley. I was at Peiffer's corner, a square and a half away. They seemed to be throwing at each other and I seen him going towards his own house, and then I went down to the post office, about a square off, stood there about 15 or 20 minutes and seen him coming from his house over towards the drug store. Before he came over Gunning came over one side of the street and Curley on the other. The old man was sitting where the masons were at work at the culvert. Curley went into the drug store. He had blood on his head. He came out of the drug store and went up the street and cross

STATE TICKET.

SUPREME JUDGE,
GEORGE A. JENKS, Jefferson county.

AUDITOR GENERAL,
ROBERT P. DECHERT, Philadelphia.

A convention of anti-third term Republicans was held at St. Louis last week. It is intended to put another republican candidate in the field if Grant succeeds in obtaining the Chicago nomination. The Cameron-Conkling machine is becoming somewhat clogged, and needs greasing badly.

The Democratic party cannot afford to go into the campaign this year with factional fights on hand. All efforts to disorganize it, by whatever means, should be frowned down. The denunciation of Democrats who are suspected or not having voted a straight ti ket, as bolters, only begets a disposition to retaliate by keeping up the bolt. Conciliation and consolidation are what is needed, not recrimination and political revenge.

Blaine has carried the Conventions in New Hampshire, New Jersey and Maryland, and secured his full share of the delegates in Mississippi and Delaware, probably the entire delegation from the last named State. The Mississippi delegates appear to be about equally divided between Blaine, Grant and Sherman, although the friends of each claim to have received a majority of them.

Attorney General Palmer has not added any to his reputation as a lawyer and upright officer by his recent action in the bribery cases. He at first stood up for the law and refused to grant a previous pardon. After sentence was passed on the prisoner he drew up a pardon and signed it before a hearing was had, on the ground that the sentence was illegal. What is the supreme court for, if not to correct the errors of the lower tribunals? But a republican Pardon Board don't look at it in that way.

The action of the court on Tuesday in refusing to license one of the prominent hotels in this town for violation of the liquor laws, will undoubtedly have a salutary effect on that traffic in this county. It will be probably understood hereafter that whenever it is shown to the court that any person, no matter how competent a land lord he may be has abused the privilege of license it will be taken from him. The fact that a house has been well kept is not sufficient to justify a court in over looking violations of the law, and the unanimous decision of all the judges under the evidence, will be sustained by all law abiding citizens. The motive that prompted the action of the objector may not be commendable, but the result must always be the same when the evidence is clear, whether the motive be for spite, or a desire to see the laws enforced.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. May. 11th 1880.

The radical fight gets more bitter every day, and this indicates almost infallibly a rupture at or after Chicago. From New York and Pennsylvania there are threats of bolting instructions; and an actual ballot of Grant's friends in the Cook county Convention yesterday was announced last night. From time to time delegates are chosen in Southern States for Sherman, always by the immediate influence of Sherman's subordinates. Senator Blaine's friends are taking delegates wherever they can get them, and by whatever means, regardless of the assumed rights of other Presidential candidates. Washburn is, or seems to be playing a double game ostensibly in the interest of Grant, but really in favor of Washburn first and Grant or Blaine second. It is a happy arrangement of affairs. "Claimants" and their friends accuse each other of treachery and all their sins. I have never known a campaign in which the same amount of ill feeling existed among prominent men in a party, or where, the probability of the breaking up of a party was so great.

Let us suppose that Grant finally gets the Chicago Convention. Blaine would certainly stump the whole country for him, but Blaine's friends will, in every doubtful State, stay away from the polls. Suppose Blaine should be nominated. He would have the active enmity of the old Grant rings.

Suppose Sherman. From the moment of Sherman's nomination the party would cease to have hope outside the money centres, and the money centres, with Sherman as their Representative, have no hope whatever.

There is one more man to be named before we get to what may be emphatically called dark horses. And here it may be said, that since 1876 "dark hosses" are an impossibility in the Radical party. The remaining man is Windom. He is probably the one man who would excite less opposition than any of the others named. The unfortunate thing about him is that, while too much talked of to be ruled out of the field of candidates, too little is known of what he has done—if he has done anything—to enable the party to arouse any enthusiasm in his favor. In the North he might poll nearly the same vote that Hayes did, but the vote of Hayes, as everybody knows, was a quarter of a million less than the Democratic candidate received. Windom may be the man, but is beaten in advance.

But the choice is probably between Grant Sherman, and Blaine.

HILTON.

Why They Want Grant.

The Republican leaders do not expect victory at the next election. They look for defeat and they want a man who will claim a victory, seize the government and use the army to back up his pretensions. They are confident that the army will obey its old commander and enable him to trample on the rights of the people. The poison has been instilled into the army until the whole organization is innoculated. The success of other military usurpers fills the conspirators with confidence. They know that other republics and constitutional governments have been overthrown, and they believe that with Grant at the head this republic can be destroyed and an empire founded on its ruins. That is why they want Grant to be the Republican candidate.—Phila. Record.

Fires in the Forests.

WILLIAMSPORT, May 10.—Owing to the extremely dry weather now prevailing in Northern Pennsylvania forest fires are more frequent and destructive than usual. For two days past an extensive conflagration has been raging in the hemlock forests of Sullivan county, and the reports to-day are that more than two thousand acres have been burned over a short distance beyond the great tannery at Thorndale, and nearly two thousand cords of hemlock bark destroyed. As the forests are very dense and the ground covered with brush and leaves, fire sweeps through them, when fanned by a high wind with wonderful rapidity. As the the fire was raging with unabated fury at last accounts this morning, the destruction of timber and bark will amount to thousands of dollars. Fires have also been in progress in the northwestern part of Lycoming county for a day or two past, and the reports are that four bridges on the Lanris Creek plank road have been burned together with a large number of saw logs and railroad ties.

BUSHKILL, Pa May 10.—Forest fires in alarming proportion are again beginning to break out in this vicinity. The Blue Ridge Mountains at High Point, the highest peak in the State of New Jersey, are on fire, and at night present the most magnificent appearance. Opposite Milford, Pa., in Jersey large fires are said to be burning and quantities of valuable timber destroyed. In Monroe county the damage is not very extensive, and no fires of great size are no in progress there. It is estimated that fully twenty thousand acres have been burned over in Pike and Monroe counties this spring. The damage caused by these conflagrations cannot be closely estimated, but it is reported that vast quantities of bark, lumber and logs have been destroyed. Rain is anxiously looked for and a heavy, long and steady storm is needed just now to check the progress of the flames The value of property destroyed by forest fires in this county during the past five years amounts to an immense sum.

EASTON, Pa., May 5 —The fires on the northern slope of the Blue Ridge mountains are still raging. The neighbors are fighting the flames, but the fires have gained such headway that nothing but rain can quench them.

Oil Region Fires.

BRADFORD MAY 10.—The fire of last evening at Rixford is still raging, but is confined to three twenty-five thousand barrel oil tanks, two of which are owned by the United States pipe line, and the other by the Tidewater line. Two or three others, owned by the Tidewater are in immediate danger, one of which is situated only about four hundred feet from the ones now burning, and it is expected that they will go too. The greater portion of Rixford has been consumed by the conflagration and a total loss was realized. The fire moved over the ground so rapid that nothing could be saved. It is impossible as yet to make any reasonable estimate what the loss will be, but at the present writing it will surely exceed two hundred thousand dollars. About fifty rigs were also consumed. Fire is now raging in the woods beyond Rixford, in Vincent's Hollow, but no property as yet has been destroyed, and the chances are that rain will fall before this second fire will assume alarming proportions.

A Bradford dispatch last night gave the origin of the fire mentioned above, as follows: Another oil town has been devastated. This time it is Rixford, located eleven miles below Bradford. Brush fires in the woods bursted a section of the United pipe line, the oil flowed out in great jets, taking fire, burning the pump station and setting fire to 25,000 barrel iron tanks, which were filled with oil. The lower end of the town which contained two hundred inhabitants, has been burned, and is now reported that four monster tanks are burning, and that the town of Rixford is doomed. The Tidewater pump station, half a mile from the origin of the fire and located at the east end of Rixford, has burned, and it is thought that main street has been devastated. The blaze is plainly seen in Bradford. The wires are down, and the telegraphic communication is totally interrupted.

BRADFORD, MAY 11 —The burning tank at Rixford spent its fury this afternoon. All the fires are now extinguished. Seventy thousand barrels of oil were consumed, which with tanks and machinery will make the aggregate loss $190,000.

The Politician's Battle.

The idea some time ago prevalent that Grant was the people's idol and that his nominations would be forced upon the politicans by the popular demand, is very thoroughly exploded now, and the fact becomes apparent that he is nothing but a politicians candidate who they seek to force upon an unwilling people. There did seem to be some plausibility in the claim for his popularity at the time of the circus exhibition which began at San Francisco and ended brilliantly in Philadelphia. It was a well managed free show and drew the crowd that made it imposing; but it was nothing but an imposition. It faded away and Grant faded with it. Cameron loaded up with him, because he thought him the most serviceable presidential timber for his particular use. Conkling took him on his shoulder for the same reason for a fit instrument to defeat Blaine. Both these men find their burthen greater than they can bear, and they are bound to lie down with it. Logan, out in Illinois, has an even bigger trouble with it, and it bids fair to break his back. Evidently the Republican family is not happy. There are so many stout leaders who have staked their fortunes on Grant, and so many who have tied to Blaine that the success of either is bound to demoralize the party. It may be fortunate enough to preserve its cohesion with a dark horse, as it did when it took Hayes, but the results of that experiment were not very encouraging and the trick will not have the same popularity at Chicago that it had at Cincinnati. The battle evidently is to be a savage one, and it is very likely to destroy the remarkable harmony of the Republican party that kept it in power so long despite its sins.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

Post Master General Key is to be appointed a judge of the United States district court in Tennessee. Key was a Democrat until Hayes, to consolidate the South, placed him in his cabinet, and as the shades are lengthening on the fraudulent administration, Key having failed to make the South republican, is given a snug life berth.

Hon. Eugene Schuyler writes from Rome that he has received proposals from Messrs. Joseph Seligman & Company, the well known publishers at Stockholm, Sweden, for permission to translate and publish his life of Peter the Great, now running in Scribner's Monthly, in the Swedish language, and from the house of Schmitzdorff & Co., St. Petersburg, for permission to publish in the Russian language. It is probable, that, on its completion in Scribner, the work will be published simultaneously in at least five countries, and perhaps more.

Wind and Rain.

CHICAGO, MAY 11th.—A heavy storm visited a large section of this state Sunday. The thriving village of Ashley, Scott county, is nearly destroyed. There was a cloud burst with terrific rain, thunder and lightning, just before the catastrophe. The wind took a narrow path demolishing everything in its way, lasting only three minutes. Twenty buildings were destroyed or damaged no lives were lost. Arrone, Smith county, twelve dwellings were demolished. An 160 acre orchard was totally destroyed. In Empire township the damage was nearly as widespread. Many people were injured. The home of Edward Reese was destroyed. Mr. and Mrs. Reese were lifted from their bed, carried a quarter of a mile, and set them down on a wheat field. A child of Keitz had its skull fractured fatally. The track of the cyclone was three fourths of a mile wide. The town of Guthrie, containing only half a dozen houses, was struck by lightning and everything burned. No one was hurt.

The defeat of ex-Governor Curtin in his contest for the seat in congress which according to the testimony we believe rightfully belonged to him, must be regretted by all who love justice and hate wrong. We do not believe that the case was decided on its merits, for it is to be doubted whether a dozen of the 190 members who recorded their votes on the question ever undertook to read the 5,000 pages of printed testimony submitted in the matter. It was probably determined in the main by the views of the lawyers in the house who made up their minds after hearing the discussion of the legal questions involved in the case by members of the committee on elections. The votes of a few members also may have been influenced by personal considerations. But we think that the Philadelphia Times commits a grave mistake in charging the result to a conspiracy between the "confederate brigadiers" and the "greenbackers." If there was a conspiracy to prevent the seating of ex-Governor Curtin, the principal parties to it were republicans. Not a single republican member voted in favor of seating the ex governor or against the resolution declaring Mr Yocum entitled to the seat. Even Mr. Garfield, whose fairness the Times was wont to extol, is numbered among those who opposed the claim of Curtin. Of the "confederate brigadiers," Armfield, Atkins, Blackburn, Bland, Cabell, Clarke, Goode, Gunter, Joe Johnston, Manning, Money, O'Connor, Reagan (ex postmaster general of the late confederacy), Shelley, Whitthorne, were conspicuous in support of the resolution to seat Curtin. In fact two thirds of the Curtin vote came from the south, the only southern democratic votes on the other side having been given by Messrs. Aiken, Bright, Caldwell, Chalmers, Henkle, Mills, Richmond, Rothwell, Singleton, Tilman, and Felton and Stephens (independents). We submit therefore that the Times does gross injustice in holding the southern democratic representatives responsible as a body for the action of a small minority of their number in which minority are included such independents as Stevens and Felton. If Gov. Curtain was entitled to the seat (and we doubt not he was) the Times should not find fault with the "confederate brigadiers" who gave him so strong a support, but rather with his old-time republican associates and their greenback allies who cast a solid partisan vote against him and refused to consider his case from any other than a partisan stand-point.—Patriot.

The Newspaper Advertising Bureau.

To Geo P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 10 Spruce St., New York, the press and the public are indebted for most of the statistics of American Newspapers. When this firm commenced business in 1865, there was not accessible to the public, anything which approximated a complete Newspaper List. was the custom of the advertising agencies to keep their's secret, believing that they thereby made it necessary for advertisers to consult them. In 1869, Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., issued the first American Newspaper Directory. In the preface of that work occurred this paragraph:

"We have always believed, and labored in the belief, that, as Advertising Agents, it was and should be in our power to be of material service to both advertiser and publisher, and we know no better way to convince them of the value of their services than by issuing this book, thus enabling them to communicate without our aid; this we do in the belief that we shall thereby the sooner persuade them of the utility of employing and encouraging our Agency."

The result showed the position to be well taken. Within twelve months their firm was in receipt of a patronage larger than had ever before been accorded to an Advertising Agency.

It is a fact, frequently commented upon that there is no other business interest of the country, the statistics of which are so thoroughly set forth and made public, as that of making Newspapers; and for this the American Newspaper Directory has the entire credit.

In 1876 at the World's fair at Philadelphia, Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., erected a building in which were received, filed and exhibited, late copies of every periodical publication: numbering at that time eight thousand one hundred and twenty nine. Of this enterprise, the London Times correspondent, in the opening paragraph of his letter of July 10th of that year, writes as follows.

"I have frequently had occasion to notice the big way in which the Americans do things and I do not know it would be easy to find an apter illustration of it than that furnished by the Newspaper Building in the Exhibition grounds."

Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. point with satisfaction to the two years in which they incurred the greatest expense for extending to the public broad sources of information concerning the business in which they are engaged (1869, 1879), as the two in which, notwithstanding the extraordinary outlay, did actually produce for them a net income in excess of any other years of their business career.

One of the strongest holds which this Advertising Bureau has upon the newspapers, is obtained by their system of making prompt payments for work done. Newspaper men who have commended this feature, when visiting the office in New York, have been invited to the cashier's desk and shown a conspicuous notice posted there, which reads: "All bills received before twelve o'clock must be examined and paid to-day."

The Advertising Agent avers to his patron, the advertiser, that he will procure for him the lowest possible rates. His profit comes from a commission from the publisher. To take the advertisement at a reduction from the usual rates, and pay the agent for securing it is not always pleasant for the newspaper men, but the reflection "we shall surely get the money the day we send the bill," he has often decided to accept an offer far below the price he ought to have received. From those newspapers which have one price for everybody, and require everybody to pay that price, it is unnecessary to say that Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. obtain no advantages beyond the established commission, nor do they desire any. What they want and must have for their patrons, is their lowest price, and when they have that they are satisfied. They are quite well aware that the best papers are, as a general rule, the cheapest.

The bribery roosters who have been pardoned from imprisonment by a republican board are still disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit under this commonwealth, by the law of the state. If Pennsylvania gives a republican majority next fall the law will be still further trampled upon, and the disqualifications of these convicts be removed by the board of pardons. The coming elections will either rebuke this party of fraud by overwhelming by defeating it, or it will endorse its outrageous action of making a farce of the law, by giving it a majority. Which will it be? The people must answer.

Captain Wm. McClelland, of Pittsburg, is to be called to the assistance of ex-State Senator Dill, to act as Vice Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee. With these two gentlemen in charge, if the Democratic campaign in this state does not prove a success it will not be for lack of intelligent direction.

They have performed in all the principal cities to large and delighted audiences The company consists of father, mother and their seven children, all of whom are accomplished musicians. See advertisement.

Musical.—Good Night, Gentle Folks, is the title of a new quartette, by Will L. Thompson, author of the famous quartette "Come Where the Lilies Bloom." Concert and Minstrel troupes pronounce it the most beautiful piece of music ever put on their programmes. It never fails to receive hearty encore. The demand is such that it is scarcely possible to keep it in print. Music dealers write that they never knew a quartette to sell so fast. We advise lovers of music to send the price, 50 cents, to the publishers, and receive a copy by return mail. Published by W. L. Thompson & Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

The license of J. L. Girton of the City Hotel was refused by the court on Tuesday afternoon. Witnesses were heard on Monday morning and again in the evening. During the hearing the singular spectacle was observed of a constable who had made sworn returns to three courts that there was no violation of the liquor laws, now standing up before the court and swearing that he had known of frequent violations of the law since last September.

In refusing the license the court said that they were sorry to be compelled to close a hotel which was needed by the traveling public but the evidence was clear and conclusive that the law had been violated, and the court must perform its duty In the case of Peter Gross the license was granted there being no evidence of Sunday violation, and only one sale to a minor who might easily be taken for an adult.

THE END OF THE CURLEY CASE.

District Attorney Little began his argument to the jury in the Curley case on Monday morning and made a good argument of several hours duration. He was followed by Col. J. G. Freeze and Hon. C. R. Buckalew for the prisoner who made very able speeches in behalf of their client, occupying the balance of the day. Hon. F. W Hughes made the closing argument on Tuesday. The court charged the jury and they retired about four o'clock in the afternoon, and were out about two hours, when they came in with a verdict of murder in the second degree. The penalty fixed by the law for this offense is imprisonment at separate or solitary confinement not exceeding twelve years for the first offense, and imprisonment for life for the second offense. Voluntary manslaughter is punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and by imprisonment in the penitentiary or the county jail for a period not exceeding twelve years.

On Thursday morning Curley was brought before the court and sentenced to an imprisonment of twelve years in the penitentiary at labor and to pay the costs of prosecution.

The briefless barrister of Bloomsburg who attempts to achieve notoriety by venting his spleen and that of his confreres against prominent Democrats in the Item should remember that such a nondescript, purchasable sheet cannot hurt the men aimed at. X.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

On next Sunday, May 16th, at 10:30 a. m., St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church of Pine township, Columbia county, Pa., will be dedicated to the service of the Triune God. Rev. O. D. S. Barclay, of Bloomsburg, has been chosen to perform the dedicatory services.

We devote the outside of this issue to a report of the testimony in the Curley trial, as much has been said about the case by papers throughout the state. It will be observed that though this has been spoken of as a Molly Maguire murder, there is not a word of evidence in any way connecting it with that organization.

DECORATION DAY

HEADQUARTERS ENT 'POST, NO. — G. A. R.

The 30th day of May occurring on Sunday, Saturday, the 29th will be observed as memorial day by the Grand Army of the Republic, at which time will be paid the customary honors to our departed comrades who fell in defence of our flag and country. Their noble sacrifices will draw us about their honored graves, where with tearful eyes and loving hands we will once more lay our annual floral tribute on their last resting place. The Grand Army of the Republic extends a cordial invitation to the people generally to participate in paying this tribute to the memory of the heroic men who were obedient to their country's call and who testified their allegiance thereto by the sacrifice of their lives.

In view of this solemn occasion, and that the people may be better prepared for the ceremonies, we would most respectuffily invite the pastors of our churches to deliver appropriate discourses on the Sabbath preceding Memorial day. Many a weary and sad heart may be cheered by this pious reference to those who went down in the storm of battle, or died after days of long and painful suffering in the army hospital.

The details will be made known hereafter.

The Town of Bloomsburg, plaintiff vs. The Bloomsburg Water Company, Henry M. Birkenbine and Harry Birkenbine, defendants. } In the Court of Common Pleas of Columbia county.

Sitting in Equity, No. 2 May Term 1880.

OPINION OF THE COURT.

The Bloomsburg Water Company is a corporation incorporated and chartered under the provisions of the Act of the General Assembly approved the 29th of April, 1874. The company is authorized and empowered by themselves, their agents, engineers and workmen, and with their tools, carts, wagons, beasts of draught or burden to enter upon such lands and enclosures, streets, lanes and alleys, roads, highways and bridges as may be necessary to occupy or to obtain materials for the construction of their works, and to occupy, ditch and lay pipes through the same, and the same from time to time to repair, doing as little damage to said streets, lanes, alleys and highways and impairing the free use thereof as little as possible, and subject to such regulations as the councils of the borough, town, city or district may adopt in regard to grades or for the protection and convenience of public travel over the same.

The right of the company to enter upon the streets, lanes and alleys in question to lay pipes is not and cannot be disputed, and it seems to me that the only question to be determined is whether in doing so, they have done or are doing as little damage to and impairing the free use of the same as little as possible.

Owing to the press of official business I have not the time, nor do I deem it necessary to write a lengthy opinion. After carefully considering all the evidence on both sides I have come to the conclusion that it has not been clearly shown that the company is or has been doing any unnecessary damage to the streets, lanes or alleys but that they have impaired the free use thereof as little as possible, nor have they altered or changed the grades as adopted by the town councils. Doubtless some inconvenience has occurred and will necessarily continue to occur during the construction of the company's works. In the construction of all public improvements such matters must generally be submitted to for a while. The principal complaint is, that there are mounds of earth left over the pipes, much higher than the surface of the streets, but, the evidence, if believed, shows that in a short time this material will naturally pack and the mounds disappear, and that it would be imprudent to take it away without giving it time to settle or pack.

As I stated, I am of opinion that the company and the other defendants are doing as little damage as possible and are impairing the free use of the streets as little as possible and have not interfered with the grades of the same and I cannot see any reason why an injunction should be allowed to continue. If, at any time, it can be made clearly to appear that the company is not doing the work in accordance with the Act of Assembly another application can be made for a special injunction which will in that case be granted.

And now to wit: May 1, 1880 this cause came on to be further heard and was argued by the counsel, and thereupon, upon consideration thereof, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed as follows, viz: That the injunction formerly granted in this case to restrain the defendants, be dissolved.

WM. M. ROCKAFELLER,
President Judge of the 8th Judicial District.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

At the regular monthly meeting of Council, May 5, President Herring, Messrs. Rabb, Hassert, Sharpless and Evans were present.

A petition was presented for grading and paving Fifth street, below Market, which was accepted and ordered filed. On motion it was ordered that the ex Street Commissioner (E. Jacoby) be notified to return such property or tools as may be in his hands, belonging to the town of Bloomsburg, or pay for the same. It was further ordered that the order due him be retained in the hands of the Secretary until such tools are returned or paid for.

An eight-mill tax for the current year was unanimously agreed upon.

It was ordered that a statement of the accounts against sundry persons due the town of Bloomsburg, be placed in the hands of M. C. Woodward for collection, allowing him five per cent for collecting.

A petition was presented for grading, curbing and paving Fourth street between Catharine and Centre streets. Petition granted.

Permit was granted Wm. C. McKinney to build a brick building on Second street.

BERWICK LETTER.

EDS. COLUMBIAN:

A visit to Freas Bros.' planing mill convinces one that the proprietors are enterprising business men.

Dr. L—— and Prof. S—— fished the Wapwollopen creek last Saturday from one end to the other without landing a single trout. They caught quite a number of "chubs" but disdained to carry them along

At the Literary society last Friday evening, Miss Alice Walton read an interesting essay; Frank Macartney recited "The Polish Boy;" and W. E. Smith, Thos. Thatcher and John Creasy, on the affimative, and F. Stewart, L. Bower and G. Kester on the negative, debated the subject "That no man should be permitted to fill the office of President of the United States for more than two terms." The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. Several of the speeches were very interesting and lively

The funeral of Col. Jackson took place at the appointed time. At the house speeches were made by Revs. Creighton, McGarrah and Smyser, and in the church after the burial, speeches were made by Gen. Osborne, Captain Johnson, Rev. Dill, Rev. Young, Dr. Macauley and Rev. Grey. The church contained only a small fraction of the number of people that had gathered in town that day. Quite a number of the deceased's military associates were here to witness the burial of their comrade.

The death of Col. Jackson will make no change in the manufacturing business with which he was connected. The business continues the same, and the firm the same.

THE McGIBENYS.

The McGibeny Family won a warm place in the hearts of the amusement-loving portion of our community by their two exquisite performances in Fisher's Hall. While every feature of the programme is always presented in the most artistic manner, not to be excelled by any other company, and equalled by few, the strongest charm about them lies in the fact that all are members of the same family, making it in every respect the most wonderful family in the world. They deserve all they receive of public favor. The children, from the tiny four-year old to the oldest exhibited wonderful talent, and in everything show the skill of their careful and loving teachers. The parade, last evening, accompanied by the Persel Band, under the glare of colored lights, was a decided triumph.—Lebanon Daily Times.

O'Conner. Then he went over to the culvert and sat down, with his face towards Curry's. Saw Curley come to drug store, go up to Dr. Lashelle's and then came down on the other side of the street to Fortner's house, then went over and struck Gunning, turned my head away and did not see the blow, but heard the sound of it. I suppose it was about half an hour between the quarrel and the blow.

Joseph Benson sworn—Was at the drug store when Gunning was struck. His testimony was the same as the last witness.

Cross-examined—I was 18 years old in July 1876. Gunning was facing nearly north. Curley went a little out of his course to give the blow. He picked the stone up suddenly. He walked away after he threw the stone. He threw it with one hand. It was one of the most public places in the whole town.

Martin Brennen sworn—Was at my boarding house, second lot above the drug store. Saw a disturbance in the street between Curleys and Gunnings. Saw Curley strike Gunning in the head. Testimony was the same as that of previous witnesses on this point.

Cross examined—Curley turned off the pavement a little before he came exactly opposite the Fortner house; he wasn't any further up the street than Weidetsaul's.

Patrick McDonald sworn—I was the contractor for building the culvert. Was at my work and saw old Gunning going into Curley's. Saw part of the quarrel. After which Gunning came and sat down. Was down in the culvert and knew no more until I heard the old man was hit.

Cross-examined—We were laying a wall in the culvert. When Gunning came there I had a little talk with him; he said he was able enough for Curley any day.

John Beers sworn—Was working for McDonald at the culvert that day. Saw no fuss but heard it. After that I saw old Gunning come and sit down and said Mag had give it to him. Then they talked and I didn't understand what they said; they were talking about ten minutes or quarter of an hour, or so, and I heard a noise as if somebody had received a blow. Seen Curley walking down and old Gunning laying on his back. When Curley stepped away he said "There" or something like that. We carried Gunning home; he didn't speak, he moaned; it was about half an hour from the time that I heard the fuss until Curley walked away from the culvert.

Cross-examined—When Gunning was struck he fell on his back by the side of the culvert; he was sitting 3 or 4 feet from the edge when he was struck, looking to the north; there was more than a dozen there already when I got out. I helped carry him home.

Re-direct—I was putting in the arch, and was on top of the work.

William Goodman sworn—Was in Centralia on 26th July, 1876, putting up a back kitchen for Curley, heard that Curley had killed old Gunning. I went back to my work bench in the back lot, and after a few minutes Curley came in at the rear of lot and passed by me. I said to him "My God, what did you do?" He didn't answer but went on to the kitchen door and said something to his wife. She walked to the main part of the building and came back and handed him something, which he put in his right pants pocket, turned and walked past me again into the alley and down towards the Dark Corner. I saw him again a month or six weeks after in his own house. His wife asked me whether I wanted to see him, I said yes, she said if I went in the garret I could see him. I went up and saw him, talked about my pay for putting up the back kitchen; he said I should be paid; don't remember that he said who would pay me I finished the building. Next time I saw him was when he gave himself up. When he went out through the lot he had no vest or coat on.

Cross-examined—I was examined as a witness at the habeas corpus hearing. Don't recollect that I was asked anything about what was the matter at that time. Might however said that they told me that Curley had hit Gunning with a stone. Did not say there that I never saw Curley until I saw him at the Red tavern. I said then that I saw him once before that, at his own house, and nobody asked me anything about it.

George McIlhenney recalled on cross-examination—I testified at the habeas corpus hearing. I think I said then that the stone might be heavier than two or three pounds.

COMMONWEALTH CLOSES.

SATURDAY MORNING, 8½ O'CLOCK.

Hon. C. R. Buckalew opened the case for the defense. He said that the evidence would be short, and that they would submit to the jury evidence to show that the crime was not committed with deliberation, but suddenly while in a passion, and suffering from the wound on his head. The counsel for the prisoner do not ask for an acquittal, but that the verdict may be for a lower grade than that charged in the indictment. The testimony will show that the defendant delivered himself up, for trial. After the blow was struck the defendant left home for fear of being lynched, when he heard the serious character of the wound. He is here by his own act to submit to the law. Evidence will be submitted to contradict the commonwealth's testimony that Gunning was constantly unconscious. A number of witnesses will be called to show that he spoke on several occasions and said that his injury was caused by his own fault.

George Jones sworn—Saw the quarrel. Saw Ed. kick the bucket. It was about noon I think. Cant remember whether he had a stick.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hughes—Saw some huckleberries on the floor. Heard loud talking but can't say who it was. Don't recollect anything that was said. I was not drinking that day. Might have had two glasses of ale.

Theophilus Evans sworn—I was in Mr. Curley's house in the room back of the store room with Curley and Mr. Jones on 26 July, 1876. Jones Curley and self took about 2 glasses of beer. We heard some noise in the store room. I went out and saw Gunning and Curley and there was some talking. I don't know what about. Curley ordered Gunning out of his house. He and Gunning went out. I knew Gunning. I did not see Curley having any stick.

Cross-examined—I don't know what time of day it was that we went out of this house. I know I had my dinner some time before. Ale makes me drunk. I saw bucket stand ing on counter when I went in. I don't remember whether Curley was in his house when we went in, or whether he came in after.

Annie Fetter sworn—I lived next door to Curley in 1876. I went into his house pretty often. I saw huckleberries on the pavements. The first I saw was Mr. Gunning's wife and daughter standing in the road calling Curley names. They used violent language, I did not see Curley, I saw Maggie throw the stone some time afterwards. I was standing in my door. I came to the door the second time. I did not see Curley throw stones. I saw blood, was scared and went back into the house. I did not see Curley make any movement with his hands toward his hip, never heard him say anything. Immediately after I saw Curley in his house washing blood off his face. His face looked bloody. His mother-in-law helped him wash his head. I did not see Weidensaul painting at Burke's. I was at Curley's about two minutes. Mrs. Curley was not in at that time.

Cross examined—Mrs. Gunning and Maggie called Curley a robber, a murderer and I don't know what. This was before the stones were thrown. Didn't see the tin bucket; Didn't see Mrs. Curley at any time I went out; When I went to the front door the second time I saw Maggie throw the stones. Think it was a half hour between the two. Curley didn't say anything, when I went in he was washing his face. They seemed all quiet; didn't go in the store room; heard no noise in there. They were in the back room.

Mary Muldoon sworn—Mrs. Curley is my daughter. I lived with them in July 1876; was in the store room at the time of the trouble. When Gunning came in with huckleberries he wanted my daughter to buy the berries; he said he would take ten cents and a drink for them. He got the money and the drink and kept the bucket in his hand; she came out from behind the bar and wanted to empty the berries, and he wouldn't give her the bucket, then Ed came in and asked what was going on, and his wife told him. He put his hand in the bucket and pulled up the leaves, "What is this," says he, and took the bucket and threw it out into the street and then put Gunning out too. I was in the bar room sitting on the bench. Ed. didn't have a cane or stick. He owned no pistol at the time; there was none about the house. Then out doors the wife and daughter of Gunning commenced calling Ed. names; they were cursing; I didn't go out, I thought the men had been drinking and I didn't want to listen to them. The daughter kept calling him to come out and when he went out, she picked up a stone and hit him, and he staggered. I went out and said to Ed, "come in now." The stone she hit him with was about two pounds. He came in the house, and we couldn't stop the blood and told the wife to go for the doctor. She didn't get back soon and he went up town to look for the doctor; he was in the house 5 or 6 minutes before he started out. Think he had his coat on. Didn't see him afterwards.

Cross-examined—Heard Ed curse some outside. Can't tell what was said. He was not sober, I saw him take a drink in the house. Saw him take two glasses of ale with Jones and Evans.

Mag dared Ed to come out. He went out and she came half way to meet him, she had a stone in her hand. When they were a few feet apart she threw the stone. He didn't throw any stones that I saw. When Curley went back Mag went back too. Mag didn't go any nearer Curley than the middle of the street where she threw the stone, nor did Curley get any nearer Gunning's than the place where he was hit. I didn't see Gunning when Mag stepped off the pavement to meet Curley, and the old woman Gunning remained on her own pavement. Curley did not curse nor swear any after he got into the house after he was hit in the head. He said nothing except that he would like to have the doctor to get it stitched. Then Mrs. Curley was sent for the doctor and Curley got tired of waiting.

Curley said his wife was staying too long and that he would go himself. I never saw Curley come back. When Curley left the house the blood was still running down his face. I am still living with my daughter. About a month after that day I again saw Curley, he came to the house. He stayed home about a month. He kept in his own house. He didn't come into the store in day time. Didn't see him from then until he gave himself up. When he came home after a month he come in the night time. Curley threw the bucket out that Gunning brought in. Didn't see the bucket roll on the floor. Gunning got ten cents and a drink of whiskey for the berries. Mrs. Curley poured the whiskey into a glass from a bottle. I took a small sip of whiskey that morning too. I am not sure whether I took any that morning but I often do. I think it was about one o'clock when he brought the huckleberries. I did not see a blow struck that day except the stone that Mag threw. When I looked at the bucket of huckleberries at first I thought we were getting a good bargain, as there seemed to be 5 or 6 quarts.

Thomas Durkin sworn—I lived in Centralia in July, 1876. Was in O. B. Millards store and heard a disturbance in the street. I think I heard old Gunning's voice. I saw Curley open the door and old Gunning come out and Curley shut the door. Saw Gunning standing out on the street and bantering Curley to come out, squaring himself off for a fight. Did not see anything of the bucket at that time, but a couple of minutes I saw some one open the door and the bucket flying out. Curley did not come out beyond his own door. I was standing at the door of Millard's store when I then went home.

Cross-examined—Came back again more than hour afterward. Didn't see Curley on the street at all.

Mrs. Mary Davis sworn—Lived in Centralia in July, 1876. Went in to see old man Gunning after he was hurt, and I heard him say that he was after forgiving Curley for what he had done, it was his own fault. There were two in the room besides his wife; he did not speak to me, don't think he seen anybody; was standing close by the foot of the bed. I am a Methodist and the prisoner is a Catholic. This was the day before Gunning died I heard him say this.

Cross-examined—Don't remember that I was ever at the house before; nobody asked me to go this time; went up stairs; the bed was in the middle of the room fronting the windows. He was lying crosswise with the window; there was a man in the room; don't know who he was; there was a woman there too, but I didn't know her; she was middle-aged; never saw her since; Maggie was down stairs; she told me to go up; the son wasn't there; don't know who spoke to the old man or what they said. He said "forgive him as it was my own fault;" wasn't in more than quarter of an hour; Dont think I told anybody of these words.

Re-direct—I was examined by Mr. Freeze and Buckalew beforehand and told them this. Think I told Mr. Dyke of this once and with a neighbor.

By the Court—Gunning was talking very hoarse when he said these words.

By Mr. Hughes—Didn't ask him to repeat it.

Mrs. Margaret Cain sworn—Lived in Centralia in July 1876, three houses from Gunning's. Knew him, saw him after he was hurt, the next day; went there alone; he was up stairs; his wife was in the room; I went to the side of the bed, his wife said "Mrs. Cain has come to see you, John" and he lifted his hand off the bed and said it was his own fault for that, and he might blame himself. I said that I felt sorry for him before he said this; I was there 5 or 10 minutes; was in again but didn't hear him say anything with any sense. Was in before he was hurt; was in friendly terms with them.

Cross-examined—Don't remember whether Maggie asked me to go up. They allowed people to go up stairs.

Mrs. Bridget Kilbane sworn—Knew Gunning and went to see him after he was hurt his wife and son were in the room, one at each side of the bed; the son asked him did he know him, and he said "yes you are Jim." Mrs. Gunning asked him if he knew her, and he said "yes, you are my old woman." Then Jim went out saying Father Fields said he should let him know when he got to talking; Mrs. Gunning said "John, I'd be rich only for you, and he said "yes I know that, then she said "you are going to die now," and he said "yes I know that." Then she said "I'll follow Curley to the lowest shingle on this house," he said 'no, no, no, it was my own fault.' I was there about 20 minutes.

Cross-examined—Wasn't acquainted with the prisoner at that time; Never spoke to him until since he gave himself up. I live in New York now. Never visited the family. Maggie showed me up stairs; James went after the Priest. I never told anybody of this talk. Miles Gillooly was there at the same time, and he told Mrs. Curley. He is dead now.

Mrs Catharine Barrett sworn—Lived in Dark Corner in 1876. Gunning lived there once, near me. Saw him after he was hurt. Went in his room and said, "Gunning how are you?" "Are you Mrs Barrett?" says he; 'Yes,' says I; then he put out his hand and said, 'You are a good neighbor.'

Cross-examined—I know Curley. He was in my house once, after Gunning was hurt, it might be months after; his wife was with him; Peter Barrett was there with him; he was there about an hour in the night time; can't tell which day he left; Gunning was dead at the time. I didn't inform anybody that Curley was about, it wasn't my business.

John Rowland sworn—Lived at Dark corners in 1876. Knew Gunning. Saw him after he was struck 3 or 4 days. Miles McAnally and Miles Gillooly were there with me; they are dead now. I heard Gunning say that he would forgive Curley, that it was his own fault.

Cross-examined—McAnally and Gillooly lived in Centralia. Didn't see Curley after Gunning was struck. Am not his cousin that I can remember.

Patrick McDonald sworn—Lived between Centralia and Ashland in 1876. Knew Gunning. Went to see him after he was hurt. I was supervisor of the township that year. Mrs. Gunning went my bail. I asked how he felt, he said he felt very sore. I said I hoped he would soon get over it. He said whether he did or not he forgave Curley as it was more his own fault than Curley's. His wife was there.

Cross-examined—His wife was near the bed and could hear as well as me.

DEFENSE CLOSES.

REBUTTAL BY THE COMMONWEALTH.

James Gunning sworn—Was not at home when father was hurt, lucky I wasn't. Got there next day about noon. Never saw Mrs. Kilbane in my life. My father never recognized me in presence of Mrs. Kilbane or any body else. The question might have been put to my father whether he know me or not but he [father] made no answer. Mrs. Barrett might have been in. I was so excited I hardly knew who was in. I couldn't say whether she was in once or more than once.

[The witness denied that his father ever recognised anybody in his presence after he was struck.]

Margaret Brogan recalled—Saw Mrs. Davis in my father's room. Went up stairs with her, and stayed there. Father didn't speak while we were in the room. Don't know of Mrs. Kilbane's being at the house at all.

Catharine Barrett was there; once she was there I wouldn't leave her up; another day she came and I took her up stairs. My father did not speak to her. John Roland was never in our house. Father never said that this was his own fault. Patrick McDonald might have been there. Margaret Cain was there. I was up stairs when she came in. Father did not speak when she was in.

Mary Gunning recalled—The testimony consisted in the denial of certain things sworn to by witnesses for the defense.

COMMONWEALTH RESTS.

Defense recalled Mrs. Kilbane who contradicted Mary Gunning.

TESTIMONY CLOSED.

CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

It can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation begin to heal, and the entire membranal lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying at once, through the blood, the system the arid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for 15 years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I am not breathed through one nostril. I had dropsies in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma, and was so hoarse that I was scarcely fit for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times in a terrible painful state, so to injure my sense of hearing so I could hear me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact, every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. B. LAWRENCE.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made me familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.
